PRICING SALES OF CERTAIN BULK COMMODITIES FOR EXPORT: This instruction prescribes the basic procedure to be followed by PMA Commodity Offices in computing sales prices for wheat, oats, barley, rye, grain sorghums, corn, soybeans, dry edible beans, dry edible peas and rice purchased by PMA Commodity Offices under the supply program or acquired under a price support program and sold for export, except for sales of wheat under the International Wheat Agreement, other sales at a stated price and other sales of price support commodities pursuant to sales announcements providing for computation of sales prices on another basis. The procedure for computing prices prescribed herein will also apply to computations of cost or market price of wheat sold by CCC under the International Wheat Agreement, for use in determining the amount of additional cost resulting from sales at Wheat Agreement prices. This instruction also prescribes the procedure for determining, with respect to export liftings, whether they are supply or price support for the purpose of determining whether a supply or support price is applicable or whether the additional Wheat Agreement cost applies to the supply or support program. The determination so made will also be the basis for application of liftings to inventory and for classifying the transaction in determining program results under the supply and price support programs.

605.3 (Cont'd) This procedure replaces as of March 1, 1950, the advance copies transmitted to PMA Commodity Offices on October 28, 1949 by Elmer F. Kruse for use in grain pricing on and after November 1, 1949. DISTRIBUTION: A, (B-09, 19) (Distributed Separately)

OBSOLETE FORMS

OBSOLETE FORMS SUPPLEMENT 1, 2-15-50 This supplement lists the forms declared obsolete since the issuance of the "Obsolete Forms" booklet dated March 28, 1949, and also lists various changes to be made in that booklet. All changes and obsolescences listed in PMA Procedure Transmittals since March 28, 1949, are included in this Supplement 1. Consequently, the 1949 booklet and this supplement constitute the complete official record of the PMA forms declared obsolete to date. DISTRIBUTION: A, B. (Distributed Separately).
